

Conclusions

1. Why was Ronald Musoke excited about the discarded books?

- a. He thought he could open a used bookstore.
- b. Some of the books could be resold for one hundred dollars.
- c. Musoke would not have to buy any college textbooks.
- d. He could send the books to Uganda to help educate the people.

2. How was Musoke able to get more books?

- a. He placed an ad in the paper.
- b. Word got around that he scavenged for books.
- c. The bookstore gave him free books.
- d. He asked Oprah Winfrey to help him.

3. What was Musoke going to battle with the books?

- a. An overthrow of the government.
- b. Literacy and AIDS.
- c. He wanted to fight AIDS by improving education.
- d. Fight famine and AIDS.

4. What had to be done before the donated books could be sent?

- a. The books had to be repaired.
- b. Four thousand books had to be collected.
- c. Uganda had to pay the shipping costs.
- d. Books had to be sorted, packed, and shipping costs paid.

5. How were College of Marin students affected by the book drive?

- a. Students gained a greater love for books.
- b. They felt connected to the Ugandan people and their nation.
- c. It made the college students study harder.
- d. Classmates learned that Uganda was in Africa.

Your Turn

1. What can be done to provide new or "gently used" children's books for needy children?
2. How will the Internet lessen the need for college textbooks?
3. What and how can other resources be shared with needy people and nations?