If you are a miser , money makes you so happy that you never want to spend any of it. Otherwise, it is not the money that you enjoy: it is the things you can buy with it.: nice vacations, comfortable homes, dressy clothes, fast cars, or new phones and computers. But the deeper questions is whether material things can ever make us truly happy. Many people who seemingly have "everything" are extremely unhappy in their day-to-day dealings with the world while many others who have "nothing" go through life with joy and gusto. True happiness is not directly related to things but, rather, to the soul.

Let's talk:

Do you agree or disagree with the following statements. Justify your opinion.

1. A lot of money can break families down.
2. Everybody lies.
3. Good looks and good brains seldom share the same body.
4. You can succeed if you try hard.
5. Honesty is always the best policy.
6. Marriage is the best part of a human being's life.
7. Life deserves to be lived for at least a hundred years.
8. To die is better than to live in disgrace.
